TOMORROW'S OUTLOOK

The GOP Leadership has announced the following schedule for Tuesday, November 15: The House will meet at 12:00 p.m. for legislative business. The House is expected to consider bills listed for consideration under suspension of the Rules.

The Daily Quote

"Congress begins a lame-duck session Monday that amounts to a mad scramble for a spending deal. Lawmakers have only three or four weeks, interrupted by a week-long Thanksgiving break, to figure out how to fund the government for the rest of the fiscal year, which began Oct. 1. A stopgap spending measure is set to expire on Dec. 9, although it could be extended until Dec. 16, when Congress plans to adjourn for the year. But the election of Republican Donald Trump as president has created new divisions among GOP lawmakers over how to proceed. While some are pushing to finish up next month, others now want to punt all major spending decisions until next year..."
