The Daily Quote

"As we welcome a large class of new members, many with young families, next year's schedule is focused on balancing time in Washington with time for Members to conduct work in their districts and spend time with their families. As we return to regular order, next year's schedule is intended to accommodate committee work on the pressing challenges facing our nation and to provide Members with certainty when planning their schedules... In this election, the American people made it clear that the issues they care about are not being addressed, and they voted resoundingly for change. Beginning in January, the Democratic-led House will tackle the challenges facing our nation and work to make real progress for our people."

- Majority Leader-elect Steny H. Hoyer, 11/29/18
